1 TO THE CLERK OF THE COURT, ALL INTERESTED PARTIES AND 2 THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

3 PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on May 12, 2025, at 10:00 a.m., or as soon as 4 thereafter as counsel may be heard, in Courtroom 8D of the above-referenced 5 Court, Defendants City of Burbank (“City”), Manuel Maldonado (“Maldonado”), 6 Rashaad Coleman (“Coleman”), Neil Gunn (“Gunn”), David Mejia (“Mejia”), and 7 Sam Anderson (“Anderson”, collectively “Defendants”) will and do hereby move 8 this Court, pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 12(c), for an order 9 granting judgment as a matter of law as to Plaintiff’s claims for relief on the basis 10 that the defendants are entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Defendants move 11 for judgment on the pleadings on the following grounds:

12 1. Plaintiff’s Second Cause of Action for Fourth Amendment, Excessive 13 Force (42 U.S.C. § 1983) against Maldonado, Gunn, Coleman, Mejia, and 14 Anderson is barred because Plaintiff pled nolo contendere to violating California 15 Penal Code section 69 and success in this action would necessarily imply or 16 demonstrate that Plaintiff’s conviction was invalid. Lemos v. Cnty. of Sonoma, 40
F.4th 1002, 1006 (9th Cir. 2022); Heck v. Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477 (1994).

17 2. Plaintiff’s Fifth Cause of Action for Battery against Defendants is 18 barred because Plaintiff pled nolo contendere to violating California Penal Code 19 section 69 and success in this action would necessarily imply or demonstrate that 20 Plaintiff’s conviction was invalid.

21 3. Plaintiff’s Sixth Cause of Action for Negligence against Defendants is 22 barred because Plaintiff pled nolo contendere to violating California Penal Code 23 section 69 and success in this action would necessarily imply or demonstrate that 24 Plaintiff’s conviction was invalid.

25 4. Plaintiff’s Seventh Cause of Action for Violation of the Bane Act 26 against Defendants is barred because Plaintiff pled nolo contendere to violating 27 California Penal Code section 69 and success in this action would necessarily 28 imply or demonstrate that Plaintiff’s conviction was invalid.

1 This Motion will be based upon this Notice of Motion and Motion, the 2 Memorandum of Points and Authorities filed and served herewith, the Declaration
3 of Rodolfo Aguado III, the Request for Judicial Notice and Exhibits attached 4 thereto, the pleadings, documents and records on file herein, and upon such other 5 further oral or documentary matters as may be presented at the hearing of this 6 motion.

7 Pursuant to Local Rule 7-3, this Motion is made following a telephonic 8 conference of counsel that took place on March 20, 2025 and a subsequent email of 9 the same date. During that telephonic conference, Plaintiff's counsel agreed to 10 dismiss the First Cause of Action for Unlawful Detention and Arrest, the Third 11 Cause of Action for Denial of Medical Care, and the Fourth Cause of Action for 12 False Arrest/False Imprisonment.

I. INTRODUCTION

This lawsuit stems from Plaintiff's September 12, 2023 arrest by Burbank Police Department ("BPD") officers, including Maldonado, Gunn, Coleman, Mejia, and Anderson (collectively, the "Individual Defendants"). After his arrest, Plaintiff pled nolo contendere to a violation of California Penal Code section 69 which prohibits the use of threats or violence to deter or prevent police officers from performing their duties. Based on his plea, Plaintiff was convicted.

In this lawsuit, Plaintiff alleges that the Individual Defendants violated his constitutional rights by unlawfully detaining and arresting him, using excessive force against him while arresting him, and denying him medical care after his arrest. Plaintiff also alleges that Defendants falsely arrested and imprisoned him, battered him, were negligent and caused him injuries during his arrest, and violated California Code of Civil Procedure section 52.1 (the "Bane Act") by arresting him. However, Plaintiff's nolo contendere plea and subsequent conviction are proof that the Individual Defendants' conduct was lawful, and Plaintiff's success in this case would necessarily invalidate that conviction.

Accordingly, Defendants move for judgment on the pleadings on the grounds that Plaintiff's claims are barred by application of the Heck doctrine

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

A. The First Amended Complaint's Allegations.

On September 12, 2023, Plaintiff was working as an ice cream delivery driver. Dkt. No. 11 (First Amended Complaint ("FAC")) at ¶ 18. Plaintiff's employer received a report that Plaintiff appeared to be having driving issues. Id. at ¶ 19. Plaintiff's employer called Plaintiff to inquire about the alleged driving issues and Plaintiff informed his employer that he was having difficulty with the truck braking. Id. at ¶ 19. Plaintiff and his employer agreed that Plaintiff should return to the company office. Id. at ¶ 20. At some point, Plaintiff's employer called 911 to report that Plaintiff was possibly driving under the influence. Id. at ¶ 20.

1 After Plaintiff returned to the company office and clocked out, Maldonado, 2 Gunn, and Coleman approached Plaintiff and informed him that they were 3 investigating a report that he was driving under the influence. Id. at ¶¶ 21-22.
4 Anderson was just outside of the office where Plaintiff, Maldonado, Gunn, and 5 Coleman were. Id. at ¶ 21. Maldonado, Gunn, and Coleman asked Plaintiff if he 6 had consumed any drugs or alcohol. Id. at ¶ 22. Plaintiff told the officers that he 7 had not consumed any drugs or alcohol and that he had experienced difficulty with 8 the truck braking Id. at ¶ 23.

9 The officers did not tell Plaintiff he was being arrested or detained for any 10 offense. Id. at ¶ 24. The officers continued questioning Plaintiff, but had not read 11 him his Miranda rights, even though they were blocking the exit to the office he 12 was in. Id. at ¶ 25. When Plaintiff attempted to leave the office, the officers would 13 not let him. Id. at ¶ 27.

14 Maldonado and Gunn began to corner Plaintiff and told him to turn around 15 and get on the ground. Id. at ¶ 28. At the same time, Coleman drew his Taser and 16 told Plaintiff to get on the ground or he would get tased. Id. at ¶ 29. Maldonado 17 grabbed Plaintiff's arm to arrest him. Id. at ¶ 30. Coleman holstered his taser and 18 he and Gunn grabbed Plaintiff's torso and took him to the ground. Id. at ¶ 30.
19 Plaintiff's hands were empty and he alleges that he did not physically threaten the 20 officers, make physical threats to the officers, or pose a risk of harm to Defendants 21 or anyone else. Id. at ¶¶ 31 and 43-47.

22 While Plaintiff and the officers were struggling, Maldonado punched 23 Plaintiff in the head and kicked him in the torso. Id. at ¶ 32. Coleman also punched 24 Plaintiff in the face or head. Id. at ¶ 33. At the same time, Gunn held Plaintiff down 25 and held his arm against Plaintiff's throat. Id. at ¶ 33. As the struggle continued, 26 Coleman unholstered his Taser and deployed it into Plaintiff's thigh. Id. at ¶ 34.
27 Coleman ordered Plaintiff to turn to his stomach. Id. at ¶ 34. Coleman tased 28 Plaintiff two more times before Maldonado and Gunn were finally able to roll Plaintiff to his side and handcuff him. Id. at ¶ 35.

1 Meja entered the office and assisted Maldonado, Gunn, and Coleman by 2 holding Plaintiff's arms and torso while the other officers handcuffed him. Id. at ¶ 3 36. Anderson was aware of the other officers' actions, but did not intervene. Id. at 4 ¶ 37.

5 Maldonado continued to force Plaintiff hand to be bent even though Plaintiff 6 was already handcuffed. Id. at ¶ 38. Maldonado, Coleman, Gunn, and Meja put 7 Plaintiff into a patrol unit without having a paramedic or EMT check him. Id. at ¶ 8 39. The officers failed to timely summon medical care for Plaintiff. Id. at ¶ 40.

9 Plaintiff alleges that the officers did not have reasonable suspicion to detain 10 him or probable cause arrest him. Id. at ¶ 55.

11 B. Plaintiff's Criminal Case.

12 On September 14, 2023, the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office
13 filed a Felony Complaint against Plaintiff. Request for Judicial Notice ("RJN"), 14 Ex. 1 at p. 1. In the Felony Complaint, Plaintiff was charged with three counts for 15 violation of Penal Code section 69. Id. at p. 1-2. The First Count related to 16 Plaintiff's threats and violence against Maldonado, the Second Count related to 17 Plaintiff's threats and violence against Coleman, and the Third Count related to 18 Plaintiff's threats and violence against Gunn. Id. at p. 1-2.

19 On February 7, 2024, in open court and in the presence of criminal defense 20 counsel, Plaintiff pled nolo contendere to the First Count. RJN, Ex. 2. On the same 21 date, Plaintiff signed a four-page document entitled "Misdemeanor Advisement of 22 Rights, Waiver, and Plea Form," which freely acknowledges that his plea of no 23 contest had exactly the same effect as a guilty plea. RJN, Ex. 3.

24 C. Meet And Confer Efforts.

25 On February 10, 2025, the parties met and conferred telephonically
26 regarding Plaintiff's criminal plea and whether Plaintiff's claims in this lawsuit 27 were precluded by the Heck doctrine. Declaration of Rodolfo Aguado III in 28 Support of Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings ("Aguado Decl.") at ¶ 2.

1 On March 20, 2025, the parties met and conferred telephonically and further 2 discussed whether Plaintiff’s claims in this lawsuit were precluded by the Heck 3 doctrine. Id. at ¶ 3. Plaintiff’s counsel agreed to dismiss Plaintiff’s First, Third, and 4 Fourth Causes of Action, but the parties were unable to reach an agreement 5 regarding Plaintiff’s remaining claims. Id. at ¶ 3.

6 III. LEGAL STANDARD

7 Defendants’ Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings is brought pursuant to 8 Rule 12(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure on the basis that the FAC fails 9 to state a claim. “The principal difference between motions filed pursuant to Rule 10 12(b) and Rule 12(c) is the time of filing. Because the motions are functionally 11 identical, the same standard of review applicable to a Rule 12(b) motion applies to 12 its Rule 12(c) analog.” Dworkin v. Hustler Magazine Inc., 867 F. 2d 1188, 1192 (9th Cir. 1989).

13 The analogous Rule 12(b)(6) provides that an action will be dismissed for 14 failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. “[C]onclusory 15 allegations of law and unwarranted inferences are insufficient to defeat a motion to 16 dismiss.” Ove v. Gwinn, 264 F.3d 817, 821 (9th Cir. 2001) Moreover, dismissal is 17 proper if there is either a “lack of a cognizable legal theory” or “the absence of 18 sufficient facts alleged under a cognizable legal theory.” Balistreri v. Pacifica 19 Police Dept., 901 F. 2d 696, 699 (9th Cir. 1990).

20 When analyzing a challenge to the pleadings, a court may consider materials 21 submitted as part of a complaint and may take judicial notice of matters of public 22 record without converting the motion to a summary judgment motion. Lee v. City 23 of Los Angeles, 250 F.3d 668, 688 (9th Cir. 2001).

IV. ARGUMENT

A. Plaintiff's Section 1983 Excessive Force Claim And Corresponding State Law Claims Are Barred By His Conviction For Violating California Penal Code Section 69.

Plaintiff's causes of action for Excessive Force, Battery, Negligence, and Violation of the Bane Act are barred by the Heck doctrine because Plaintiff's success on those causes of action would necessarily call into question his conviction for violation of Penal Code section 69. In Heck v. Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477 (1994), the Supreme Court held that when a plaintiff brings suit for a harm that would render a criminal conviction or sentence invalid, the claim must be dismissed if a civil judgment in favor of the plaintiff would "necessarily imply the invalidity of his conviction or sentence." Heck, 512 U.S. at 486-87. The Ninth Circuit has interpreted Heck as meaning that "if a criminal conviction arising out of the same facts stands and is fundamentally inconsistent with the unlawful behavior for which section 1983 damages are sought, the 1983 action must be dismissed." Smithart v. Towery, 79 F.3d 951, 952 (9th Cir. 1996).

This is especially pertinent to a conviction for violation of California Penal Code section 69, where an element of the crime is that an officer must have been acting lawfully at the time they were subject to threats of violence or violence. California Penal Code section 69(a) ("Every person who attempts, by means of any threat or violence, to deter or prevent an executive officer from performing any duty imposed upon the officer by law... is punishable by a fine not exceeding ten thousand dollars ($10,000), or by imprisonment..."); People v. Wilkins, 14 Cal. App. 4th 761, 776 (1993) (hereinafter "Wilkins") ("...[V]iolation of section 69 [] requires as an element that the officer at the time of the offense be engaged in the lawful performance of his duties.<sup>7</sup> This means, where the offense is committed upon an officer effecting an arrest, the arrest must have been lawful."); see Scott v. Lindsey, 132 F.3d 40 (9th Cir. 1997) (holding that Heck doctrine applied because

1 an element of the Plaintiff's conviction for violation of Penal Code section 69 was 2 that the officers were engaged in the lawful performance of their duties) (footnote 3 omitted).

4 The Heck doctrine has been refined in recent years to only apply "to the 5 particular act or acts for which the plaintiff may have been convicted." Martell v.
6 Cole, 115 F.4th 1233, 1237 (9th Cir. 2024). In other words, if the alleged acts of 7 excessive force occurred separately from the acts that formed the basis of a 8 criminal conviction, a section 1983 may not necessarily imply the invalidity of the 9 conviction. Ibid. In Martell, the Ninth Circuit considered whether a plaintiff's 10 conviction for resisting or obstructing a peace officer under Penal Code section 11 148(a)(1) precluded an excessive force claim under section 1983. Id. at 1236. The 12 Ninth Circuit explained that it was required to look at the particular acts for which 13 the plaintiff had been convicted in order to determine if the conviction precluded 14 the section 1983 claim. Id. at 1237. For example, the court considered the 15 following acts by the plaintiff to be separate acts of resistance: 1) kneeling rather 16 than laying prone when ordered to "get on the ground," 2) failing to roll onto his 17 side when ordered to, and 3) refusing to sit up and bring his knees to his chest 18 when ordered to. Ibid. The court pointed out that the enumerated acts of resistance 19 "were not resistance to or obstruction of the use of force [he] claim[ed] was 20 unlawful[.]" and to the extent that Plaintiff's conviction was based on any of those 21 other acts, it would not be invalidated by his section 1983 claim. Id. at 1238.

22 The analysis undertaken by the Ninth Circuit in Martell cannot be replicated 23 in this lawsuit for a few reasons. First, the conduct that formed the basis for 24 Plaintiff's conviction is more specific than conduct analyzed in Martell. That is to 25 say, while the plaintiff in Martell was charged for unspecified resistance or 26 obstruction under Penal Code section 148(a), here Plaintiff pled guilty to resisting 27 by way of "threats and violence... [and] the use of force and violence[.]" under 28 Penal Code section 69. RJN, Ex. 1. There is no ambiguity as to what conduct

1 supported Plaintiff's conviction, so there is no need to separate out Plaintiff's acts 2 of resistance that supported the conviction.

3 Second, Plaintiff's violent conduct was directly related to Defendants' use of 4 force that he now claims was unlawful, so permitting Plaintiff's claims to proceed
5 would necessarily invalidate his conviction. Plaintiff alleges that Maldonado's 6 unlawful conduct that constituted excessive force, illegal battery, negligence, and a 7 violation of the Bane Act all stemmed from the altercation between Plaintiff and 8 Maldonado, Gunn, and Coleman that occurred when the officers attempted to 9 arrest Plaintiff. Dkt. No. 11 at ¶¶ 62 (alleging that Maldonado used excessive force 10 when he was "beating" Plaintiff), 89 (alleging Maldonado battered Plaintiff when 11 he attacked him), 99 (alleging Maldonado was negligent in failing to use 12 appropriate force and tactics against Plaintiff), and 106 (alleging that Maldonado's 13 use of force violated the Bane Act). That altercation began when Maldonado 14 grabbed Plaintiff's arm and concluded when Maldonado and the other officers 15 were able to handcuff Plaintiff, stand him up, and walk him to a patrol car. Id. at ¶¶ 16 30-39. Plaintiff insists that prior to the altercation, his hand were empty, he was 17 unarmed, and he did not make any physical threats or pose any risk of harm to 18 Defendants or anyone else. Id. at ¶¶ 31 and 43-47. As such, by Plaintiff's own 19 allegations, the only violent conduct that could have supported Plaintiff's 20 conviction for violation of Penal Code section 69 was his conduct during the 21 altercation with Maldonado, Gunn, and Coleman, as the officers struggled to arrest 22 Plaintiff.

23 By virtue of Plaintiff's conviction, Maldonado's conduct at the time that he 24 was arresting Plaintiff was lawful, so Plaintiff cannot succeed on his excessive 25 force claim without invalidating his criminal conviction. RJN, Ex. 2; see Wilkins, 26 supra, 14 Cal. App. 4th at 776; see Scott, supra, 132 F.3d 40. Had Maldonado used 27 excessive force, his arrest of Plaintiff would have been unlawful, and Plaintiff 28 could not have been convicted. Smith v. City of Hemet, 394 F.3d 689, 695 (9th Cir. 2005), disapproved of by Lemos v. Cnty. of Sonoma, 40 F.4th 1002 (9th Cir. 2022).

1 As such, Plaintiff's section 1983 claim must be dismissed under the Heck doctrine.
2 The California Supreme Court has applied the Heck doctrine to claims brought 3 under California law as well. Yount v. City of Sacramento, 43 Cal. 4th 885, 902 4 (2008) ("[W]e cannot think of a reason to distinguish between section 1983 and a 5 state tort claim arising from the same alleged misconduct...") Consequently, 6 Plaintiff's state law claims against Maldonado should also be dismissed.

7 Defendants anticipate that Plaintiff may argue that he was not convicted 8 based on his conduct towards the other defendants and that his claims against the 9 other defendants cannot be precluded by the Heck doctrine. However, Plaintiff's 10 own allegations undermine that argument because Plaintiff alleges that Maldonado, 11 Gunn, Coleman, and Mejia acted simultaneously and worked in concert to subdue 12 Plaintiff and arrest him. Dkt. No. 11 at ¶¶ 30 ("Maldonado grabbed [Plaintiff's] 13 forearm... [a]t the same time, Coleman holstered his taser, and Coleman and Gunn 14 also grabbed [Plaintiff's] torso..."), 32 (alleging that all three officers were on top 15 of Plaintiff and struggled to arrest him), 33 (describing simultaneous efforts by 16 Maldonado, Gunn, and Coleman to subdue Plaintiff), 34 ("Maldonado repositioned 17 himself to be on top of [Plaintiff]... [a]t the same time, Coleman unholstered his 18 taser and, without warning, deployed it..."), 35 ("Coleman then tased [Plaintiff] a 19 third time... [and] Maldonado and Gunn rolled [Plaintiff] onto his side and began 20 to handcuff him..."), 36 (Mejia entered the office and effected [Plaintiff's] arrest 21 with Maldonado, Gunn, and Coleman..."), 38, and 39 ("Maldonado, Coleman, 22 Gunn, Mejia and Does 1-7 stood [Plaintiff] up, walked him outside, and put him in 23 the patrol unit..."). It would be absurd and unjust to permit Plaintiff's claims 24 against the other officers to proceed given that those officers assisted Maldonado 25 as he lawfully subdued and arrested Plaintiff.

26 Although Plaintiff's claims against the other officers may not directly 27 invalidate his conviction, his conviction is "fundamentally inconsistent" with his 28 section 1983 and related state claims against the other officers. See Smithart, supra, 79 F.3d at 952. Similarly, it would be absurd to permit Plaintiff's claims

1 against Anderson to proceed when Anderson did no more than witness Maldonado 2 lawfully subdue and arrest Plaintiff. Id. at ¶ 37.

3 V. CONCLUSION

4 Based on the foregoing, Defendants City of Burbank, Manuel Maldonado, 5 Rashaad Coleman, Neil Gunn, David Mejia, and Sam Anderson respectfully 6 request that the Court dismiss Plaintiff's Second, Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Causes 7 of Action as to Defendants.
